One Killed In Accident At Milton

Jack Doody, Newburgh, Is Fatally Injured and Another Is Seriously Hurt.

Car Hits Truck Near Hanley Gas Station South of Village

Jack Doody, 31, of 27 Carter street, Newburgh, was killed and William Maxwell, 21, of 174 Dixon street, Newburgh, was seriously injured in an automobile accident about a quarter of a mile south of Milton early this morning.

Trooper William Martin, who investigated the accident, said that the Plymouth sedan owned and operated by Doody, and which was being driven south on Route 9-W, failed to make the sharp right curve near the Hanley gas station and its left front collided with a truck owned by Joe Teti of Utica and being driven north by Pietro Scianca, 27, of Utica.

The Doody car was turned completely around by the force of the impact and was practically demolished, the body being torn off the chassis. Scianca, who was injured in the shoulder and left side, pulled to his right to avoid the collision and the truck went down a bank and was badly damaged.

Dr. W. V. Capowski of Milton treated the injured men at the scene of the accident. Maxwell, who was said to be in a serious condition, was taken to St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh. Scianca's injuries apparently were not serious. Scianca was not held, pending further investigation.

Coroner James McHugh, who was called, gave a verdict of accidental death in the case of Doody, whose body was taken to the Tuthill funeral parlors in Marlborough. District Attorney N. L. Van Haver ordered an autopsy performed.

Treasury Defense Total Passes Billion Mark

Washington, Aug. 29 (AP)—Treasury defense expenditures passed $1,000,000,000 in August, the first such month since the last World War.

With three business days of the month yet to make up, the treasury said that expenditures from August 1, through 27 for defense totaled $1,001,446,512.

This was about $72,000,000 more than was spent in the whole month of July, and about five times as much as was spent in August last year when the defense program had barely begun.

The treasury figure did not include, however, defense disbursements of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and its subsidiaries, which have been running over $60,000,000 a month.

Chapel to St. Dismas

Dannemora, N. Y., Aug. 29 (AP)—St. Dismas, the "Good Thief" who was forgiven by Christ while they died on Calvary, has a special place in the hearts of Clinton Prison's gray-clad convicts today. Yesterday, led by three bishops, the inmates of this northern New York convicton-named "Siberia" dedicated to the Saint the new $250,000 chapel which they built with volunteer labor over three years. An apostolic blessing from Pope Pius XI was read, with letters from President Roosevelt and Governor Lehman.

Colette Fought With British

Paris, German-occupied France, Aug. 29 (AP)—An investigation of Paul Colette's home at Caen was said today to have disclosed that the would-be assassin of Pierre Laval and Marcel Deat fought side-by-side with British troops at Dunkerque and was evacuated with them to England. Colette, who made his attempt on the life of Laval and his henchman Tuesday at Versailles, was reported to have tried to return to England recently—presumably to join the Free French forces of General Charles De Gaulle.

Super-Ministry Of Supplies Set Up by President

Ferry Transport To Become Stake Boat in Harbor

Five-Man Board to Have Supreme Control of Nation's Natural Resources

Washington, Aug. 29 (AP)—President Roosevelt, striving anew to step up arms production, concentrated the supreme control of all the nation's natural resources today in a seven-man board headed by Vice President Wallace.

This board—a super-ministry of supplies—was charged with the duty of deciding what proportion of the country's materials and productive power must go for military essentials, and what may be spared for civilian needs.

These decisions will result in some civilian hardships, the White House stated, but it reported that the office of production management was seeking to ease them as much as possible.

President Roosevelt issued an executive order last night creating the new body—the supply priorities and allocations board. In effect, it meant a reorganization of some key defense personnel.

There has been criticism in many quarters for some weeks over the progress of the arms production drive, over reported friction and duplicating functions existing in various defense agencies, and over the delays in allocating available raw materials to industry.

Whether the President's action would completely still the criticism was debatable, for a goodly portion of it has been accompanied by demands for the appointment of a one-man head for the arms effort, with the broad powers that Bernard M. Baruch wielded as chairman of the war industries board of World War days.

One of the first important components, however, proved favorable. Alvan Macauley, president of the Automobile Manufacturers Association, said that the setup appeared "to give us the consolidation of leadership we have needed from the start." Efforts to date, he added, have been "handicapped by lack of supreme leadership."

Members of Board
The new board was empowered to deal primarily with the supply question, but its scope evidently extended to numerous other problems which have given rise to complaints.

To Mr. Roosevelt named:
Vice President Wallace;
William S. Knudsen, director of O.P.M.;
Sidney Hillman, co-director of O.P.M.

Secretary of War Stimson;
Secretary of Navy Knox;
Leon Henderson, head of the office of price administration and civilian supply; and Harry L. Hopkins, special presidential assistant in charge of the lease-lend program.

For executive director of the board, the President selected Donald M. Nelson, former Sears Roebuck and Company executive who has been serving O.P.M. as director of purchases.

Many officials were inclined to look on Nelson as the coming No. 1 man of the new organization. They pointed out that the Vice President's numerous other duties would not permit him to be a full time chairman. Thus the day-to-day work in this tremendously important role would devolve on Nelson.

Malnourished

State Fair Visitors Filling Out Questionnaires on What to Eat Are Warned

Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 29 (AP)—New York State Fair visitors who have been filling out the Home Bureau's questionnaire on what they eat ought to know this: Most of them are malnourished.

Miss Mabel Ailene Milhan, Home Bureau manager at Troy, directing the experiment, received some 1,000 answers today and discovered:

Men don't like vegetables very much.

Women don't drink enough water or milk," she added.

Children don't get enough fruits. Only about one-third of those filling out the questionnaires were in food, principally against vegetables, she stated. The intensity of parents' dislikes that come to Syracuse.

Another third were getting only 50 to 75 per cent, and two score persons in the tally less than 50 per cent. The average for all was 77.6.

Miss Milhan, Rensselaer county Home Bureau manager at Troy, said women apparently didn't drink enough water—six to eight glasses daily is just right—mostly because they didn't like the taste of it.

"Most of them prefer tea and coffee," she added.

She couldn't explain why men ignored the vegetables on their plates. Many children's prejudices in food, principally against vegetables, she stated, were due to the intensity of parents' dislikes that come to Syracuse.

Two Killed as Train Plunges Into Pond

Two engineers of this special New York-bound train, carrying more than 350 boys from three Massachusetts summer camps, were killed when the New Haven railroad locomotive left the tracks and plunged into Hatch Pond at South Kent, Conn. State Police reported that none of the boys appeared hurt seriously.

Several Changes In Teaching Staff Of Public Schools

Teachers Will Be Shifted to Other Schools or Assigned to Fill Existing Vacancies

When the city public schools open next Tuesday there will be several changes in the teaching staff with several teachers being shifted from one school to another or being assigned to fill vacancies existing in the same school where they formerly taught. Based on the June registration it has been found possible in some instances to absorb certain work by combining it with that of another teacher and thus save the engagement of another teacher. In other instances through the assigning of teachers from another school it has been possible to fill vacancies without the need to engage additional teachers.

At No. 3 school Miss Margaret A. Sheehan will be unable to return to school on the opening date because of illness and Miss Irene McDonough has been assigned from another room to carry on the work of Miss Sheehan.

Miss Henrietta Katz, who has been teaching in the lower grades at No. 4, has resigned and her work is being absorbed by other instructors.

At No. 5, Miss Etta A. Anderson has returned because of disability suffered in an accident last spring and Miss Follette has been transferred from No. 2 to take Miss Anderson's position. Because of the vacancy created through the marriage of Alice M. Gillett of No. 5 school Miss Anna L. Whitbeck has been transferred from No. 2 to the position at No. 5.

Mrs. Regine C. Swarthout has been granted a leave of absence from her duties at No. 6 school and Miss Elsie Brown has been assigned to take over the work of Mrs. Swarthout.

In No. 8 Miss Sally Gallagher, who taught a special class at No. 2 last year, will fill the position left vacant by Mrs. Nickerson who was compelled to give up her position because of illness.

Lois Bishop, a graduate of Syracuse University who has two years teaching experience, has been appointed to fill the position left vacant by Miss Elizabeth M. Dralle, supervisor of art, who has been granted a year leave of absence.

Miss Emma Jacobs, a graduate of Oswego Normal and the Albany State Teachers College, has been appointed to teach the special class at No. 2 school. This class was formerly taught by Miss Gallagher who goes to No. 8.

Michael Franko, graduate of Ithaca College of Music, who has had four years experience teaching, has been engaged to give instructions in orchestra work and string instruments, etc.

Satisfied With Blackout

Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 29 (AP)—A blackout against a mock air raid at the Syracuse State Fairgrounds left New York's Civilian Defense well satisfied today. Major General John F. O'Ryan described last night's demonstration, viewed by the largest crowd ever attending a night show, as "timely as profitable." It gives only a very small, though realistic picture of what may happen," O'Ryan said, commenting that the whole thing would have to be multiplied by 50 to give an idea of the intensity of the raid that might come to Syracuse.

He urged reduction of speed, keeping in line in the absence of clear space for passing other cars and slow driving after nightfall.

Railroader Retires

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 29 (AP)—Thomas P. Gullen, 70, of Rochester, who has traveled some 1,000 miles in the past 10 years, retired today as regular conductor on the New York Central's 20th Century Limited.

German Forces Capture Tallinn Amid Violent Naval Battles

Harriman Will Go to Russia

Will Head Delegation to Consider Problem of Aid to Soviet

Washington, Aug. 29 (AP)—President Roosevelt disclosed today that he would appoint W. Averell Harriman head of an American delegation which will go to Moscow to consider the problem of aid to Russia.

Harriman has been in London handling lease-lend operations, and Mr. Roosevelt said John Biggers, who has been in charge of production for the Office of Production Management, would take over Harriman's duties in the British使馆.

The delegation to Moscow, which will meet with corresponding British and Russian groups, may be appointed within a few days, the President told a press conference, and may have a half dozen members.

Harriman originally was sent to London, the President explained, chiefly to handle shipping problems and assist in getting aid to nations resisting aggression.

But the position enlarged itself, Mr. Roosevelt said, to take in problems of production and supplies of all kinds, and the point was reached where the Chief Executive needed another general troubleshooter.

Not will Biggers take over Harriman's duties, but he also will attempt, Mr. Roosevelt said, to get the British production problems more closely to those of this country.

He said the position was so exceedingly important that it ought to be filled at all times.

With Biggers in London, the President said, Harriman will become available for use in other places. But he would not agree that Harriman would be what a reporter termed a "lease-lend administrator at large."

Nazi, Finnish Fleets Attack Russians in Their Flight From Burning Capital

Will Head Delegation to Consider Problem of Aid to Soviet

Berlin, Aug. 29 (AP)—German forces have stormed and taken Tallinn, fighting a naval battle which apparently is still continuing, and have delivered a crushing blow to the Red naval forces in the Baltic, the German high command announced today.

Besides raising Adolf Hitler's banner over the Estonian capital, naval base on the Gulf of Finland less than an hour by bomber from Leningrad, official announcements said air and naval attacks had sunk 32 Russian ships—22 transports and 10 war vessels—and heavily damaged seven others.

The Russians, who had defended Tallinn fiercely, were said by the Germans to have been literally pushed into the sea.

Frantic efforts were made to evacuate trapped Red army forces by water, they said, and this accounted for the German concentration of transports.

German spokesman called the end of Russian resistance in pocketed Tallinn "another Dunkirk" but there was no indication how many Russians managed to escape.

The once-thriving Hanseatic port had been a pocket of Russian resistance in German-conquered territory, choked off and besieged by Reichswehr forces which had passed it in the eastward push through Estonia into Russia proper.

Its capture winds up the German conquest of Russia's recently won Baltic buffer states.

French Ships Sunk

The war bulletin from the führer's headquarters said 19 Russian transports loaded with troops, a destroyer and nine other naval vessels were sunk in Tallinn harbor when German land, sea and air forces made the final assault on the beleaguered city yesterday.

Violent naval battles were believed still to be raging, in the Finnish Gulf, however, with Finnish and German fleets and air forces attacking dozens of troopships and warships which had fled

Laval's Condition Is Slightly Worse

Deat Reported Improved; Police Press Search for Accomplices

Paris, Occupied France, Aug. 29 (AP)—The condition of Pierre Laval, shot by an assassin Wednesday, has grown slightly worse, according to a bulletin issued at the Versailles Hospital at noon today.

Laval's temperature jumped to 39 degrees centigrade (approximately 102 degrees Fahrenheit), doctors said, adding that they feared the politician's wound became infected.

The condition of Marcel Deat—who is also one of the top leaders of the group favoring stronger collaboration with Germany and who was shot at the same time as Laval—was declared improved. Deat's temperature had returned almost to normal.

An investigation of the Caen home of the assassin, Paul Colette, was said to have disclosed that he had been evacuated with them to England. He was reported to have tried to return to England recently, presumably to join the Germans.

But he told the nation it "should not forget for one moment its firm determination to cope with any untoward happening."

After reviewing moves Britain and the United States have made blocking Japanese aims in East Asia, Kishi concluded:

"Should the United States and Britain really hope for peace in East Asia they should certainly re-examine the policies they have adopted toward Japan in the past in the light of ideals often mouthed by them. Unless they transport their ideals into action we cannot accept them at face value."

Examination of Cause

Government spokesmen said that the message was intended as "an examination of the cause of trouble between Japan and the United States" and that shipments of oil and war supplies to Russia via the Far East undoubtedly would be included in any conversations with the United States.

At the special meeting Taro Terasaki, director of the American Bureau of the Foreign Office, was present to give the members a detailed explanation of relations with the United States, with particular attention devoted to yesterday's conference in Washington.

Premier Konoye and Foreign Minister Teijiro Toyoda themselves supplemented Terasaki's discourse, said Japanese reports.

Besides the regular cabinet members, two high military officials were present, Maj. Gen. Akita Muto, director of the military affairs bureau of the war office, and Rear Admiral Takasumi Oka, director of naval affairs of the navy ministry.

Negro Confesses Rape Slayings, Police Announce

Washington, Aug. 29 (AP)—Metropolitan police, claiming an amazing series of confessions from a one-time undertaker's assistant, today announced the solution of two crimes that shocked the capital—the rape-slaying of a pretty government stenographer and the rape-slaying of a young bride of a few weeks.

Edward J. Kelly, acting superintendent of police, said that the man—Jarvis Roosevelt Catoe, a 38-year-old negro—had confessed not only in these two cases, but in a series of five other sex homicides both here and in New York. Three of the victims were white, four negroes.

The superintendent said he was satisfied the confessions were true and they "positively convinced him" that he had the man who raped and strangled Miss Jessie Elizabeth Strieff, war department employee from Des Moines, Ia., whose nude body was found hidden in the garage of a retired professor here June 16.

The slaying of Miss Strieff, who was waylaid on her way to a store in midafternoon on a Sunday, aroused congress to investigate local police efficiency and shake-up of the force followed.

Kelly also announced that the undertaker's helper had made a confession in the rape-slaying of Mrs. Rose Simon Abramowitz, 25, who was found in her apartment here less than a month after she had come to the city as a bride.

from Kansas City, Mo. Both the Strieff and the Abramowitz slayings occurred in the residential northwest section of the city where there are embassies, parks, stately homes and modern apartments. In each case intensive manhunts were instituted, but all clues proved valueless, although detectives noted a similarity in the way the young women were strangled.

Then came the rape-slaying of Mrs. Evelyn Andersen, 26, whose body was found August 4 in a Bronx lot. It was this case that led to the apprehension of the negro now in custody, and Superintendent Kelly said this was the first of the slayings on which a confession was obtained.

Mrs. Andersen's wrist watch was missing when her body was found, detectives said, but a search located it in a pawn shop in New York. It was then traced to a woman who pawned it and police alleged that she had received it from the man arrested here at his home yesterday.

Superintendent Kelly said the sex slayings covered by the series of confessions took place between December 1, 1939 and the present month. In addition to the slayings, Kelly said, the prisoner had confessed to four other rapes here and two attempted attacks. These involved negro women, he said.

Assistant District Attorney Francis X. O'Brien of the Bronx, who flew here last night with other New York police officials to participate in questioning the suspect, turned him over to district authorities when the confession which Kelly announced in the Andersen case was followed by the subsequent statements which the superintendent said he obtained on the Strieff and Abramowitz cases.

Blast

Beckley, W. Va.—From a Radford, Va., powder plant comes this tale:

A plant engineer went fishing in the New River and hooked a catfish, which he took home, cleaned and placed in a frying pan. In a moment an explosion blew fish, skillet and hot grease all over the kitchen.

The engineer concluded that the fish, living in the stream below the powder plant, became so impregnated with nitro cotton it exploded in the heat.

SPENDING IT

Some of us remember the good old days when a billion dollars was a lot of money to Uncle Sam. In the days of New Deal crises it is little more than chicken feed and the spending of borrowed money continues at a faster and faster pace.

The full total of expenditures for the fiscal year 1940-41 was $12,775,000,000, an increase of more than three and a half billion over the previous fiscal year. And we are only getting into our stride. The expenses topped all records for the United States except in the year 1918-1919 at the close of the first World War.

It is true that expenditures in the year just closed were not quite up to expectations as it had been estimated that a little more than thirteen billions would be spent. But there is no particular encouragement in this. The fact that expenditures didn't quite come up to advance notices was due not to any spasm of economy but to the fact that the defense program has been so slow in getting under way that it has been physically impossible to spend the money as fast as had been hoped. Therefore the deficit was a mere $5,168,000,000 rather than the estimated $6,289,000,000.

The lag in anticipated expenditures however will be made up in the next year. The Alexandria Hamilton Institute in commenting on the situation said recently:

"Although expenditures during the past year were exceptionally heavy, the prospect is that spending during the current fiscal year which began July 1 will show a sharp increase. At the present time, expenditures during 1941-1942 are estimated at $22,269,000,000. Expenditures this year will be the largest on record, even exceeding the expenditures of $18,522,000,000 in the last year of the World War."

ABOUT WINDOWS

It's surprising how much interest has been developed lately about all details of building. The new houses are going to be good if their owners and builders can make them so. There's the matter of windows, for example.

A window used to be just a piece of glass to let in light and air. Now it's a subject of research and controversy. There's a new form of double hung window which works on roller bearings and is guaranteed not to stick. It can be taken out for washing—a great gain.

For those who want casements arises the question—in-opening or out-opening? The outside ones can be made weather tight, but they are more troublesome for screens and washing. The in-opening are fine for screens and easy to wash, but they can never be made entirely tight against heavy rain or fine snow. Storm windows may solve the weather problem, but of course the in-openers take room inside for swinging. What a decision to have to make!

Builders say it's cheaper to have a few large openings in the wall than a lot of small ones. Decorators say it's easier to place furniture if you have a few large spaces, glass or wall, than many small windows. But if you like your windows small to handle, that solution is easy. You have the builder make one big opening in your wall, and put into it a battery of small windows all set in one frame. You can open some of them and let the rest remain fixed.

The new hardware for all types of windows, they say, is entrancing!

ERSATZ

What hardships this nation is enduring! Why, in the scramble to fill orders for military supplies we're even reduced to using silver for soldering our pots and pans. Fortunately we have plenty of that stuff, and the government may be glad to find practical uses for it. And if the supply of silver ran out, which it won't, we could even turn to gold for a lot of household purposes, and never miss it from the Federal Treasury stock.

Mostly, though, our industrial substitutes run to cheaper and commoner stuff. More and more we come to use plywood for aluminum, steel and other "base metals," and plastics for a thousand purposes. We have Henry Ford's automobile body made from soy beans. Soon we shall have many unfamiliar products produced from straw, wood-waste and other stuff formerly rated as valueless.

This trend is especially important to nations low in metals. Industrial chemistry might yet enrich many a poor but intelligent nation or community. It is recommended especially to Germany, the native land of "ersatz," which has gone far afield, and set the world against it, to gain materials that it might have produced profitably at home.

GRIN AND BEAR IT

Big Bill Knudsen has a way with him. He speaks softly and carries an invisible big stick. Who else could crack down so gently and yet cut such a wide swath in national economy and business practices?

A Washington correspondent reports that his seemingly mild-mannered Office of Productive Management "is not permitting an ounce of aluminum, nickel, silk, or a lot of other materials, to be used for purely civilian purposes. So imperative is the need of construction materials for defense housing that it is expected that shortly none will be available for private housing." And incidentally hundreds of thousands of workmen are being thrown out of work.

America faces an emergency! Every citizen is urged to assist to the utmost of his ability by buying Defense Savings Bonds and Stamps.

CASES OF BREAST CANCER

A prominent surgeon operated on three women, within one month, for the removal of an enlarged milk gland of the breast. These three women had all believed they had cancer and had suffered for many months in silence, afraid to tell their families of their fears. Most of us naturally think this waiting and hiding of their secret fears was a big mistake because they either had or had not cancer. If no cancer was present, they were worrying unnecessarily; if cancer was present, they were losing all this valuable time because cancer of the breast can be readily cured by surgery, radium or X-rays, if treated early.

There will always be unnecessary deaths from cancer of the breast if women will not report any lump in the breast as soon as it is discovered. They should not consider it just an enlarged milk gland, as so many of these lumps prove to be, but should consider it cancer until it has been proven otherwise.

Statistics show that there has been a steady increase in breast cancer for the past few years, mainly because so many women, as with men also, now live so much longer and so reach the cancer age, 40 to 60 years of age. Thus, it is found that for every eight women who in 1920 developed cancer of the breast, today there are eleven who do so, an increase of more than 30 per cent in twenty years."

Now, while this great increase is due in part to the fact that there is a greater percentage of women today in the cancer-age group, some of the increase is due to the fact that physicians are thinking about cancer more than ever, and thus more cases of cancer are discovered and reported than in former years.

Do these two factors—more women living to the cancer age and physicians more alert and report findings more accurately than formerly—account for all the increase in cancer of the breast?

No! "There is an unexplained 'actual' increase and that emphasizes the importance of alertness for symptoms that may mean that the disease is present."

If women would realize that cancer of the breast is so readily curable, they would not ignore the lump which they think may be only an enlarged milk gland, but would consult their physician as though alcohol was used only for rubbing purposes.

The men chuckled and said: "Well, after all, what news can she give you?" We half agreed because Mrs. Roosevelt certainly proved too clever to invade her husband's province. Then suddenly we did hit the front pages. Mrs. Roosevelt announced the White House would serve beer and light wines. That was back in the days of our children get a good useful education—not merely a diploma—and take some adult educational courses yourself. Ways of Selecting Leaders

Leaders are absolutely necessary under every form of government—Monarchist, Fascist, Socialistic, or American. The main difference in these four forms is in their methods of selecting leaders. Heredity determines who shall be the leaders under Monarchies; brute force determines them under Fascism; college professors determine them under Socialism; "Survival of the Fittest" should (and did until 1900) determine the leaders of the United States and Canada.

We are no longer free to work, employ, buy, sell, or in any way earn a living, except under rules laid down by college professors.

These men are honest and anxious to do right; but they lack practical experience.

Professors Are Poor Executives

We all respect college professors as men. All of us know some to whom we owe much. But they won their positions by being good teachers under the inner circle of the men's press corps. To it are invited the President, the supreme court and the cabinet. No woman ever is asked.

But in 1933 the men suddenly found, if they invited the cabinet, they'd have a lady present, Secretary Frances Perkins. They squirmed and backed out.

Mrs. Roosevelt jumped into the breach. She announced a Gridiron Widows' party. She invited the women's press corps, the gridiron wives, and of course, Miss Perkins. We also put on skits, and it became a thoroughly hilarious evening. It customarily breaks up about 1 a. m., and we have begun to feel that the men's stories about their skits are a little boring.

There are other "exclusives"—Evelyn Walsh McLean, owner of the Hope diamond, gives an annual dinner for the ladies of the press. It's distinctly full dress, from the liveried doorman in purple, through the champagne cocktails, the roasted squab dinner, to the private movie.

Publisher Eleanor Patterson gives another annual—swimming party and buffet supper at her country estate.

Lord Halifax, the British ambassador, and his wife have given one party for the press. And it was a stately tea for the ladies ONLY.

So, the ladies may not get within whiffing distance of a Pulitzer prize, but a little champagne and a little roast squab here and there goes a long way toward killing off that gnawing feeling when the subject comes up.

Many citizens believe these professors are over-emphasizing "humanitarianism" which is linked up with this debt question. Of course we should help others; but the present method of giving relief may be doing others a wrong.

Belfast, Northern Ireland, will

Administration Desirous of Pleasing Union Asks Officers To Find Subterfuge of Some Kind

(By DAVID LAWRENCE)

Washington, Aug. 29.—The administration is seeking a way to circumvent the situation in which it finds itself because of the seizure of the Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock Company at Kearny, N. J.

Being desirous of according to the C. I. O. the union maintenance contract for which it called the strike, the administration realizes that it cannot do so if the Navy Department operates the plant because this means a closed shop for all other navy plants. Yet, in its anxiety to please the union involved, the administration has asked its law officers to find a subterfuge of some kind to deal with the problem.

One way that has been suggested is for a dummy corporation to be set up to which the Reconstruction Finance Corporation would lend enough government money to buy the property from its present owners. This means that a group of civilians who would be appointed by the government—possibly even the executives of the defense plant corporation which has been set up to buy reserves of raw materials—would own the plant and agree to sell it to the government after the war. Then it is presumed that the granting of the form of closed shop contract demanded by the union would be recognized not as the action of the navy itself or of the government but of the new management.

It is argued, for example, that the Panama Canal Corporation which operates for the War Department, recognizes the closed shop in its employment of crews for ships and that the administration has already a precedent to guide it. But this is hardly the issue. The navy does not grant a closed shop or any modified form of it in any of its own shipyards. Nor do most of the other private shipyards in the east. If the administration grants the demand by the shipyard at Kearny, N. J., it will cause the other workers or their leaders to ask for the same thing.

The whole shipbuilding industry of the east—about 54 yards—is watching the administration's maneuvers to see what is coming next, for if the demands aren't granted by these companies—and many shipyard owners say they will not grant them—there will be a new outbreak of strikes in the eastern shipyards which the historic stabilization agreement of June 28 last was supposed to have prevented for a period of at least two years.

The sacrifice made by the United States Steel Corporation in behalf of its Kearny plant on a matter of principle has considerably stiffened the backbone of industrialists throughout the country. For when a corporation offers its members by formal contract to pay dues and if the members default, the courts can attach a portion of the weekly wages of the worker and collect it just as effectively if not more so than can an employer. The whole defense program does not need to be impaired over a question of collecting dues from delinquent union members. But evidently such questions are more important to the politically-minded men in the government than anything else and that's why it is sometimes difficult to believe that America is really in as much danger as the administration so often proclaims the country to be.

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinnett

(The last of a series about Washington newspaper women by Sigrid Arne, filling in for Jack Stinnett, on vacation.)

By SIGRID ARNE

Washington—Back in the spring of 1933 the Washington press suffered a jolt. Mrs. Roosevelt announced she would have a regular press conference for women ONLY. No other president's wife had done so.

The men correspondents did a little "if they can't do this to us" stuff back of the scenes with the President's secretaries. But happily, we could do that, too, and Mrs. Roosevelt is still holding her "women-only" conferences, nine years later.

They are the only press conferences in this town limited to one sex. This has meant a good deal to newspaper women because newspapers out through the states suddenly found they had to have a woman Washington correspondent, even if she was only for part time.

The men chuckled and said: "Well, after all, what news can she give you?" We half agreed because Mrs. Roosevelt certainly proved too clever to invade her husband's province. Then suddenly we did hit the front pages. Mrs. Roosevelt announced the White House would serve beer and light wines. That was back in the days of our children get a good useful education—not merely a diploma—and take some adult educational courses yourself. Life Terribly Complicated

Professors decide questions according to text books written by men who also never had enough practical experience. Professors do not realize what a great factor human nature is and how difficult it is to change economic habits. We all are like the cogs on the wheels of a watch. One broken cog, on one little wheel, ruins the watch.

Have these professors full conception of the magnitude and complexity of life? Many single factories make 20,000 different items. Some stores carry 100,000 different articles. If under Prohibition we could not regulate the sale of one commodity like whiskey, how can any nation regulate the sale of thousands? It is like attempting to upset nature. Killing off the birds brings pests; killing one pest brings another.

Co-operative Movement

I am not appealing for capitalism, per se. There are things more important than bigness, money, and even efficiency. As we progress, we will gradually co-operate more, reducing needless waste and unfair practices. Sane leaders of the Co-operative Movement are probably aiming at the right goal. To reach this goal, however, needs a spiritual awakening on the part of us all.

Large Crowd Attends Park Entertainment

A small idea of the very large attendance at the annual community night program of competitive entertainment held at Hasbrouck Park last evening may be realized in the photograph in the upper left. Hasbrouck Park was awarded first prize for the tumbling act and singers. Those who had a part in the program are in the top row, left to right: Frank Hart, Norma Cozza and Jacqueline Christiana. Argentine Nazis

Thermann "pretended to control Argentine sons of Germans" on the ground they were Germans.

The report mentioned books bearing hundreds of names listed as contributors to the German winter relief fund by a name—presumably of the cell leader—on the margin of the page. One of the margin names was von Thermann's. Another was that of Gottfried Sandstede, German embassy press attache, who secretly fled the country in a German airplane a few days ago while the committee was seeking him for questioning.

It was charged that Germans in Argentina were forced to take this oath:

"In spite of having gone to local schools and having performed my profession in local circles I am a German."

Another oath was:

"We swear to thee, Adolf Hitler, Fuehrer and Chancellor of the Reich, our courage and loyalty. We promise obedience to the death to you and to the chiefs you appoint, so help us God."

The committee reported that Germans were individually numbered and registered in Berlin for punishment if they failed to aid the Nazi organization.

Driver Arrested After Accident Is Sentenced

Frank Mingey of Highland who was arrested on August 18 for operating a car while intoxicated following an accident at the junction of the Union Center road and route 9-W at Ulster Park, has been fined $20 and given five days in the county jail by Justice of the Peace John O. Beaver.

Mingey was arrested by Trooper Gonet following the crash between the car of Mingey and that of Frank A. Lewis of Passaic, N. J. Three people in the New Jersey car were injured and passengers in the Mingey car also suffered slight injuries.

Mingey was brought to jail when he was unable to provide the bail demanded and his case was set down for August 28. Later after he had served five days in jail Mingey appeared before Justice Beaver with John Wadlin, his attorney, and pleaded guilty to the charge and paid the $20 fine imposed. He has served the five days in jail.

thermore there has been no proof that he had switched over to the Communist party.

Nevertheless it was announced that Colette will be tried by the new "Red" section of the appellate court, set up especially to try Communists, and that the investigation of the assassination attempt still will be aimed at uncovering possible Communist links.

The presence of German military police at indictment proceedings last night was unexplained. They cross-examined Colette closely, although theoretically the new court takes its cases out of the hands of the German authorities and the Germans issued a statement indicating that the shooting was an affair to be settled among Frenchmen alone.

Colette's parents said that as far as they knew he had gone to Paris to seek work this week, and that he had not seemed interested in politics for some time.

Chapter 29

Enter Greeley Morris

ONCE I nearly got a job, not a good one, but a job," Carol went on. "A manager who had seen my performance in Green Apples and had liked me. I got as far as a week's rehearsals. That was all. Morris heard about it and I was fired.

"There was nothing for me in London then and so I came back. I changed my name to Carol Blanton again so that Morris couldn't find me, couldn't spoil my chances with the managers here if he still wanted to. And I was afraid he did."

"I pounded the pavements here for months. I did get a few chances to read for parts, but I read so badly. And I had had no experience. I couldn't tell them about Green Apples. I had to say, 'No. No experience at all.' Then the day I saw in the paper that Cline Bowers was going to do Green Apples. All of a sudden it came to me. There was a part I could do. Jeff, you saw what that critic said in Manchester. And Greeley Morris never came to America for any of his plays. He would never know if the girl who played Dixie was Leila Gray. I was . . . pretty desperate then. There was no money left, none at all. Well, it was worth the chance and I took it."

"Steve!" Carol's face was ash-en. "Steve, that's why I've been quiet! That's why I've kept this inside me! I didn't want you and Morris to . . . Oh, Steve, you mustn't see him! Something will happen, Steve, something will happen if you do, and we'll . . . we'll lose each other, Steve!"

She turned to Jeff. She was crying. "Jeff, don't let Morris come here! You don't need to see him now. I've told you everything, I've explained it all to you! He doesn't have to come, does he?"

"Yes, Carol," Jeff said gently. "You see, we want Morris to explain a few things now."

"Then . . . then make Steve go before he comes. Don't let him . . . Oh, I'm afraid for Steve! He mustn't see, Greeley Morris, he mustn't . . ."

We heard the elevator come to a groaning stop, quick footsteps in the hall outside, and then the impatient rapping at the door. Jeff turned the key in the lock. Peterson stepped to one side as the door opened, and Greeley Morris preceded him into the room.

Another Story

In a voice monotonous with fatigue and so low that at times Peterson had to lean forward to hear her, Carol retold her story almost word for word. Only once did she interrupt her. "London, huh? So that accounts for the blank between the time you left Salt Lake City and when you turned up here in New York. We were working on that now, Miss Blanton." He nodded curiously and she went on, occasionally glancing furiously at Greeley Morris as if she feared, despite Steve's reassuring nearness, he might rise and start toward her. But Morris hardly moved during the long retelling, except to light a fresh cigarette.

"I wrote the note when I was alone in my dressing room and after it was written I didn't know what to do with it. I kept asking myself if it was worth while to plead with him or if I should just keep still and take my chance. Even after the play I was still muddled up. I didn't know what to do. And then, suddenly, I was sick. The kind of sick when you think you're dying and nothing matters at all. I forgot about that note and Greeley Morris and my job, forgot about everything but getting home and into bed. That was all. The next thing I knew I was in Bellevue."

She sank on the couch and covered her face with her hands. After a moment Jeff said: "Did you think it was Greeley Morris who tried to kill you, Carol?"

"When Bowers cabled me the names of the cast."

"When was that?"

"Just before the show went into rehearsal."

"So you knew," Peterson snapped, "that Miss Blanton was in New York and in your play."

Morris smiled. "Naturally. But I didn't know that Miss Blanton was Miss Gray."

"You have no way of proving that?"

"Of course not."

"But you recognized her as Lee Gray when you saw Green Apples on opening night?"

"Certainly."

"And yet you denied knowing Lee Gray. Why?"

"That's fairly obvious, isn't it? Miss Blanton had been poisoned on the very night of my arrival, unfortunately. The police, apparently, were searching for someone with a past connection to her. I saw no reason to offer the evidence of my connection with her by explaining Lee Gray and implicating myself. And since Miss Blanton seemed unanxious to do so . . ."

"So. Very pretty. And the story Miss Blanton has just told . . . was it . . . has she been correct about your relationship with her in England?"

"Would you expect me to admit if it were the truth?"

"It is?"

"That I'm a degenerate, a maniac who scares little girls?"

"Why did Miss Blanton leave your show?"

Steve jumped up angrily. "Carol's told you why she left! Must you drag her through all that again? Isn't it bad enough that she has to stay here and . . ."

Peterson interrupted him. "She doesn't have to stay here. She can leave now if she wants to."

"I'll stay," Carol said quietly. Her hand reached up to Steve, drawing him down beside her. "Steve, I've got to stay."

"All right, Morris. Why did Miss Blanton leave your show?"

CREEK LOCKS

The Supreme Court was listening to an argument by John W. Davis, the eminent New York lawyer, whose plea was most earnest—and obviously rather long. Suddenly he brought himself up short, fearing he might be getting close to his allotted time limit and hoping he might finish his point.

"Apologize," he said, addressing Charles Evans Hughes, then Chief Justice. "I have no timepiece. Would the court be kind enough to tell me how much of my time remains."

Chief Justice Hughes, famous for his punctuality, pulled out of an inner pocket the huge turnip of a watch he carried to keep himself that way. He advised Mr. Davis there was one minute left and in his voice there was a tone of finality.

Mr. Davis drew himself up, bowed, and answered in his most formal manner:

"In that case, Mr. Chief Justice, may I present that minute to the court?"

The minute was accepted—very gravely.

Must Recover School Work Through 'Make-Up'

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 29 (AP)—New York children must recover any school work from which they are released for farm work this fall through "make-up" classes or supervised study.

State Education Commissioner

Ernest E. Cole stressed this point yesterday in informing local officials of an agreement between Governor Lehman and legislative leaders to advance retroactive 1942 legislation authorizing such absences.

The legislation will cover a maximum 10-day absence of rural pupils 14 years old or older, to aid farmers in certified labor-shortage emergencies.

Actress Turns in Hit Performance In Elwyn Tryout

A performance which tops anything to date on the stage of the Woodstock Playhouse was turned in last night by Jessie Royce Landis, noted Broadway actress in "Dr. Brent's Household," the fifth try-out of the season at the Elwyn Theatre.

The play, an English drama written by Edward Percy gets off with a quiet and almost slow-moving start but works up to a second-act curtain which leaves the audience gasping. It is a play which definitely has much to offer to any thinking audience and it has the utmost in high dramatic moments as provided by Miss Landis in the role of Mildred Brent, the wife of an English doctor who returns to her home after seven years in an insane asylum.

So subtle is this actress' interpretation of the part that she brings the audience with her into a world seen through the eyes of a mind trying to bridge the gap between sanity and madness. She fills the part with every possible gesture and mood to stress the strangeness of the world to which her mind has taken her . . . a mind out of harmony with time and the routine of life around her.

Flora Campbell, another new name in the Elwyn cast, is effective as Claire Hutton, who as housekeeper and secretary to Dr. Brent, virtually becomes the wife and mother in the home and complicates life there upon the unexpected recovery and return home of Mrs. Brent.

Robert Blakeley does well also as Michael Brent, his first major role of the season, and Joan Arliss is at her best as Pamela Brent, who openly attacks what she considers the selfishness of her mother, whom she regards as a stranger in the household.

The work of Ivan Triesault, who plays the aged Dr. Lambert Peterman is also commendable and William Halstead whose work has been generally excellent for the season is another hit as Dr. David Brent.

The play continues through Monday night.

Recs Will Engage Paterson Red Sox Tonight at Stadium

Local Team Meets Royal Giants Next; Saugerties Monday

37,858 Fans Have Seen 24 Games at Stadium This Year; Bush Hurls Tonight

Still very highly regarded by Kingston baseball fans as one of the finest semi-pro clubs ever to represent this city, Skipper Joe Hoffman's Recreations will return to action tonight against Charlie Jamieson's Red Sox of Paterson. Time of starting for the arclight contest at municipal stadium is 8:30 o'clock.

After their hectic 5 to 3 tussle with Satchel Paige and the Kansas City Monarchs, local patrons put the O.K. mark on the Rebs, declaring the entire team a real ball club, and one which local fans should be proud of. True, the Rebs were beaten, but only by a few bad breaks and a top-notch road opponent.

Taking on the Paterson Red Sox tonight will be another tough assignment for the local players. Jamieson's aggregation has met and defeated the Brooklyn Royal Giants (they appear here Sunday), House of David and the Cuban Giants this year. Skeeter state clubs respect the Red Sox as a powerful unit.

Despite the heart-breaking loss Wednesday night to the Monarchs the Recreations drew a tremendous 4,477 crowd of paid admissions to the stadium. That mark will undoubtedly stand until the locals bring a major league club here next year. And all of those 4,477 spectators saw a close, hard-fought battle all the way.

Bob Bush, who bids two straight victories over the Bronx Giants and the Fuller Brush squad of New York city, will be Joe Hoffman's choice tonight to hurl against Paterson. After hurling good ball this year despite a few setbacks, Bob has been doing all right by himself and has been a big factor in making the Rebs a vaunted ball club for all opponents to come up against.

37,858 Fans at Stadium

In 24 games this year at municipal stadium, according to Clarence Post at the department of recreation office, the Kingston Recreations have played before a total attendance of 37,858 paid admissions this year. The average game mark has been 1,577.

Before the year is completed Joe Hoffman's charges will have played before at least 40,000 and possibly 50,000 patrons. Kingston fans have been ardent in their stamp of approval of the Rebs this year and should the season end at once, the year of 1941 for the Rebs would have been a marked success.

Impressed by the 4,477 sell-out Wednesday night, local baseball officials will probably secure a few major league clubs for 1942. It was attempted to bring the Philadelphia Phillies here this year but late season bookings prevented this. Next year all of the New York clubs, the Giants, Dodgers and Yankees, might play at the stadium.

Season in Final Lap

As far as the present campaign is concerned, local fans still have an opportunity in which to trek to the uptown ball park to see their favorites in action. How many night games will be scheduled for the balance of the year depends largely on the weather. It is believed that if the arclight tussles are discontinued, the Rebs will end their season soon.

A former House of David hurler is likely to be the mound selection for Charlie Jamieson tonight. He is Paul Behrman, a top-flight flinger all the way. Behrman was with the Bearded Beauties for a long spell until he decided that wearing a beard was getting tiresome, so he left the club and joined up with the Paterson Red Sox. Behrman has been cutting up a number of triumphs on the hill this year against some of the toughest opponents in New Jersey and in the metropolitan district.

Royal Giants Sunday

The Brooklyn Royal Giants, long a favorite negro club here in Kingston, will play the Recreations Sunday night at the stadium. The Royals always are known to have a stellar ball club and although definite information hasn't reached local scribes as yet, the Brooklyn club has been tearing up opposition in the same manner as their Brooklyn companions, the Dodgers. Charlie Neff, who defeated Stroudsburg last week, will hurl this contest.

Saugerties Here Monday

Then comes the long awaited clash with Alex Schultz's Saugerties baseball club Monday evening, Labor Day night. On the hill for Kingston will be Billy Ostrom, who hurled against the Kansas City Monarchs Wednesday.

A lot of controversy has been made lately concerning a series between these two clubs. Now the games have arrived. The superiority of these two machines will be settled. As far as the season is concerned the Recreations are favorites to whip Saugerties.

Recreation officials look forward to a capacity stadium crowd Monday evening when these two clubs tangle in this first contest of the year. Both aggregations have been pointing for the game and as it looks now, it should be a natural.

Waterbury, Conn. — Eddie Dolan, 144, Waterbury, outpointed Manuel Villa, 142, Mexico, (8).

— Looks to Final

Bud's semi-final foe was the almost fragile appearing Bobby Riegel, a young man from Houston (Tex.) and those same guys downstairs named Ward to advance to the championship final against the winner of the match between good-looking Pat Abbott, the former movie extra, and tall Ted Bishop, the Bostonian.

Ward came into the semi-final round with a convincing 5 and 4 decision over little Steve Kovach, who couldn't match Bud's skill on the second nine of their quarter-final round. Ward's third round foe, Glenn Oatman of Kansas City, went down 3 and 1.

Riegel didn't carry as brilliant a reputation into the semi-final as Ward. In fact, he had to play off to get into match play. But he's been going at a steady pace

Abbott, a gallery favorite, was general choice over Bishop, the New England champion. Handsome Pat did a two-under par job as he eliminated two stout shooters, Ray Billows, the New York salesmen, 3 and 2, and Harry Todd, the lanky Texan, 2 up. Abbott was a finalist against Willie Turnesa in 1938.

And the Baltimore Sun's C. M. Gibbs, hearing that Bobby Feller is working on a new pitch, wonders if "a new team probably wouldn't be of more help."

Today's Guest Star

Don Daugherty, Philadelphia Evening Bulletin: "Larry MacPhail staged a fashion parade at the Dodgers' ball park before a ball game. . . . It is now apparent why Blimp Phelps fled the Dodgers' fold. What ball player wants to go down in history as the man who modeled the stylish stouts?"

Genius

Abbott, a gallery favorite, was general choice over Bishop, the New England champion. Handsome Pat did a two-under par job as he eliminated two stout shooters, Ray Billows, the New York salesmen, 3 and 2, and Harry Todd, the lanky Texan, 2 up. Abbott was a finalist against Willie Turnesa in 1938.

Bishop, a 28-year-old salesman who once was a professional, tripped Hal Stone, Jr., of Bloomington, Ill., 1 up in the third round and then surprised with a 5 and 3 victory over Lou Jennings of Portland, Ore.

Dis-a and Dat-a

The thing that made up Larry MacPhail's mind about bringing Augie Galan to Brooklyn instead of letting him escape to Los Angeles was that Augie always batted .320 in Ebbets Field as a Chicago Cub. . . . Glenna Collett Vare is hitting 'em as good as ever.

CITY SOFTBALL LEAGUE

At Block Park Thursday night Hercules defeated Y. M. C. A. by the score of 8 to 4. Charlie Hertica hurled for the winners and permitted eight hits. Kelse and Ed Bock slumped out two-baggers for the losing club.

Art Kaplan was the victim of poor support. He allowed eight hits, the same number as given up by Hertica. Tibor Tomshaw poked out a double and Joe Brooks collected two for three.

Score by innings: R.H.E.

Hercules	40	400	-8	8	1
Y. M. C. A.	00	301	-4	8	4

Batteries: Hertica and Kennedy; Kaplan and Styles.

Berlin, Aug. 29 (P)—Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini met at the fuhrer's headquarters on the eastern front since Monday, an official announcement said today.

The five-day discussions, which did not end until today, covered all political and military developments, the announcement said.

It was indicated that particular attention was paid to the duration of the war.

The text of the statement from the fuhrer's headquarters said:

"The fuhrer and Il Duce met at the fuhrer's headquarters between Aug. 25-29 in discussions which took place at the fuhrer's headquarters for the north and south fronts. There was thorough discussion of all military and political questions concerning the development and duration of the war."

The questions were studied in a spirit of close companionship and unity of fate which characterize relations of the Axis powers.

"The discussions were permeated with the unchangeable will of both peoples and their leaders to wage war to a victorious end."

"The new European order which will emanate from this victory shall remove as extensively as possible the causes which gave rise in the past to European wars."

"Destruction of the Bolshevik danger and of plutocratic exploitation will create the possibility of peaceful, harmonious and profitable cooperation of all peoples of the European continent in the political as well as in the economic and cultural spheres."

"In the course of these discussions, the fuhrer and Il Duce went to important points on the eastern front when also one of the Italian divisions employed in the fight against Bolshevism was inspected."

"On the occasion of their visit to the south front, the fuhrer and Il Duce were greeted by General Field Marshal Von Rundstedt."

"Furthermore, visits were made to the headquarters of the Reichsmarshals (Goering) and of the commander in chief of the army."

Mussolini was accompanied by Dino Alfieri, Italian ambassador to Germany, General Ugo Cavaliero, chief of the Italian general staff; and other high Italian military and civil officials.

Count Galleazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister, was not present because of illness.

The German ambassador to Italy, Hans-Georg Viktor Von Mackensen and the German military attaché to the embassy went with Mussolini from Rome.

German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop and Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel participated in both the political and military conferences.

Could Be Cut

Washington, Aug. 29 (P)—President Roosevelt expressed a press conference opinion today that non-essential government expenditures could be reduced. He has advocated that for a long time, the President said, adding, however, that he did not pass the appropriation bills. He expressed his views when a reporter reminded him that Senator Byrd (D-Va) had proposed a reduction in non-defense spending and suggested that the Senate appoint an investigating committee. The Senate Finance Committee endorsed Byrd's suggestions as it neared the end of its consideration of the $3,688,500 tax bill.

Killed in Chase

Fairfield, Conn., Aug. 29 (P)—An unidentified youth, about 20 years old, was shot to death by a bullet from a policeman's pistol early today when two officers went to investigate an attempted break at a pharmacy. Policeman Robert Henry said he and a fellow officer went to the store after a nearby resident reported a man was trying to break in. When they went to the rear of the establishment, they saw the youth running away. Henry said he fired two warning shots and struck the youth with his third bullet. The victim died in a police ambulance enroute to a Bridgeport hospital.

Tokyo Drill Slated

Tokyo, Aug. 29 (P)—From day-break to noon September 1, the 18th anniversary of Japan's great earthquake, fire brigades from all 40 stations in the capital are scheduled to take part in city-wide drills on control of incendiary bombs. The drills are part of an air-raid precaution program instituted recently by the government.

1,700,000,000 at War

Washington, Aug. 29 (P)—On the eve of the second anniversary of Germany's invasion of Poland, the National Geographic Society noted today that 1,700,000,000 people—four-fifths of the world's population—are now at war. "The United States and the other American republics are the only sizeable portions of the world which are not active belligerents," observed a bulletin from the society.

Carnera to Wrestle

Rome, Aug. 29 (P)—Primo Carnera, former world's heavyweight boxing champion who has been acting in Italian movies since his virtual retirement from the ring, has taken up wrestling and signed with the Italian Heavy Athletic Federation, which controls the sport and also boxing. Now his manager, Renato Bertuccioli, is looking for a match.

TOMMY HARMON AND BEST GIRL

New York, Aug. 29 (P)—The few buyers who stepped out in today's stock market turned to specialties and left most leaders to jog over a slightly irregular range.

The ticker tape moped from the start and transfers for the full proceedings were at the rate of about 350,000 shares. Fractional variations were the rule near the final hour. Numerous issues were unchanged.

The fact the list, on average, had been without a minus sign since August 21, caused some lightening of commitments, brokers said, although urgent offerings were scarce. The forthcoming lengthy holiday—major markets will recess over Labor Day—also induced aloofness of many customers. Business and international developments were undisturbing. Individual situations brought bids for a handful of favorites.

Japanese dollar bonds were exceptionally strong as hopes revived that Washington and Tokyo would iron out some of their difficulties. Commodities were hesitating.

Cladakis' New York office, quoting A. W. Colebank, acting milk marketing administrator for the Chicago area, said that Cladakis and Colebank were in a party of six going to the game, and that Cladakis had an extra ticket which he tried to sell outside.

Colebank could not be reached at his Chicago home or office for further comment.

Hearing that attempts might be made to scalp All Star tickets, which were at a premium with a crowd of 98,200 in the stands, the Internal Revenue Bureau had 30 agents around the gates.

What It Means

The New Heart of Russia

By MORGAN M. BEATTY

AP Feature Service Writer

WASHINGTON—Back of the Volga lies a new heart of Russia capable of pumping lifeblood to the Soviet war machine almost indefinitely.

It's the Ural Mountain industrial zone, created by the Communists during the last 20 years, and designed to meet a need that now looms up—A second line of defense against a European invader. Some American experts on Russian economics believe that more than 60 percent of Russia's war industry has already been shifted back of the Volga, securely protected by the famous mountains dividing Asiatic and the European Russia.

Behind the Urals lies Russia's second line of defense—a new industrial region.

sent by the Russian government since 1934.)

The growth of the cities of the Urals since 1929 is regarded as a fair index of the capacities of that area to supply Russia's war machine. Magnitogorsk has come up from nothing to 146,000. The 10 key cities all have doubled in size since some of them have tripled and quadrupled.

The unofficial capital of the Urals is Sverdlovsk, where seven rail lines converge. One of them down from the mining areas of the north is electrified to handle the heavy pull over the mountains.

Next in importance is Chelyabinsk, the point where the core of the double-tracked Russian rail system starts the long pull across Siberia.

The fly in the ointment for Russia, so far as the Urals are concerned, is their newness. The industrial area is not yet fully developed.

The United States and Great Britain are mapping their aid to Russia largely on the reports of Ural industrial capacity. Bearing on the matter, too, is the question whether Stalin, pressed hard enough, might not make peace with Hitler. Some democratic quarters believe he would not do this under any circumstances, basing their conviction on the theory that both Communism and Stalin himself would fall, never to rise again, if he compromised with any invader.
